

The Role of Designated Offices

Designated Offices are a very important part of the new assessment process and the primary point of contact for many Yukoners.

Designated Offices are a very important part of the new assessment process and the primary point of contact for many Yukoners.

Designated Offices have been established in six Yukon communities – Dawson City, Haines Junction, Mayo, Teslin, Watson Lake and Whitehorse. Assessment officers employed at the six Designated Offices conduct the vast majority of assessments, approximately 90 percent. Taking guidance from the Act and the YESAB Rules of Practice and Procedure, the Designated Offices are independently responsible for carrying out evaluations and making recommendations on a wide variety of projects.

Services of the Designated Offices

Designated Offices act as a gateway into the assessment process for individuals and groups in their district. Staff provide information and assistance to all those involved in assessments. The Designated Offices offer the most direct and accessible way for people to get involved in assessments and influence the direction that development takes in the local areas that they care about.
